each book. According to Prof. Crossley, De los Rios was sent to the Philippines in 1588 and left the country for the last time in 1618. Most probably, books included in his collection belong to said periods. Luckily, they have found seventeen (17) of his books. Another seven (7) books have been discovered after Prof. Crossley left the Philippines. All in all, a wonderful haul of twenty-four (24) books from the 16th century collection have been traced to De los Rios' collection. At present, Prof. Crossley is preparing the CD on this with all the photographs of the books of De los Rios.

It is satisfying to know that professors like Crossley and Trota Jose have made tremendous impact by bringing historical facts back to life despite neglect of others on the essential role of history in order for others to understand better the present.

UST HERITAGE LIBRARY... A WONDERFUL HAUL OF TREASURE

The historical and invaluable wealth of the past marks anew the UST Heritage Library when a well-respected professor and historian John Crossley of Monash University, Australia visited the said library on June 4-8, 2007. Significantly, it made a marvelous discovery of the rare book collection of a secular, Fr. Fernando de los Rios including the book of the well-known Polish astronomer Nicolaus Copernicus De Revolutionibus (On Revolutions of the Celestial Spheres). Ms. Alena Pias Bantolo has featured in the Varsitarian this discovery last June 30, 2007 in her article entitled "The Copernicus Connection."

For almost a week, Prof. Crossley and Prof. Regalado Trota Jose of the UST Graduate School with the assistance of the Heritage library staff have made a thorough search of the 16th and 17th century rare books with the signature of De los Rios on the title page of

ST. DOMINIC DE GUZMAN

The Committee on Human Values chaired by Mrs. Leonila M. Manuel organized a forum on the "Life of St. Dominic de Guzman." This was held at the UST Miguel Benavides Library, Conference Hall on August 7, 2007. The aim of this forum was to remind and inspire each of us through the exemplary life led by St. Dominic.

Fr. Winston Fernandez-Cabading, O.P., the resource speaker, discussed the inspiring and still relevant life of St. Dominic de Guzman. He advised that the examples of the saint must continue to motivate the present generation.

The audience was composed of students from the college of Pharmacy, librarians and some guests.

Fr. Cabading ended his talk with these words of wisdom "that the life of St. Dominic was one of tireless effort in the service of God."

HARRY POTTER –ORDER OF THE PHOENIX: A REVIEW

A fleeting 131 minutes of spellbinding drama and magic minus the Quidditch. All the teeny bopper scenes is gone. It is obvious that the flushing out of important characters in Harry's life is a must for the preparation of the ultimate showdown between Lord Voldemort and Harry.

The 5th installment of the movie series probed into a deeper and darker territory. It is apparent that the kid wizards are growing up and approaching adulthood.

The movie opens up with Harry being with the Dursleys again where Dudley was attacked by the dementors. Lord Voldemort's rise to power again, is not oblivious to the fact that the Ministry of Magic held up a smear campaign waged by Minister Fudge although the evidence to the contrary is overwhelming.

Asserting their power over Hogwarts, the Ministry has placed one of their own as the new Professor of Defense Against the Dark Arts. Dolores Umbridge with the backing of the Ministry, has come to Hogwarts to squash all talk of

“BOOK IS ALWAYS GOOD TO CELEBRATE”

The celebration of the 28th Manila International Book Fair was held on August 29 - September 2, 2007 at the World Trade Center, Manila. It was highlighted by several significant events which evidently focused on its theme “Aspire, Inspire and Read.”

Several participants from the different publishing companies displayed books and other educational materials which are relevant to our present time. Simultaneously, special programs like seminars, fora and book launchings made the fair more significant.

One of the highlights of the event was the launching of twenty five (25) new titles on various fields of discipline by the UST Publishing House. This is still part of the UST Publishing House’s completion of the four hundred (400) titles in time for the quadricentennial celebration of the University. Literature, Industrial Chemistry, Language, Theology and other alternative reading books were fairly represented in said ‘launching’.

The said celebration was just the first part of the Publishing House’s book launching project. It consists of the plight of twelve (12) respected authors making their names and having their works recognized in the realm of great minds and great educators. In the same manner, the second part is set to be launched sometime in February of 2008.

Truly, there are a lot more to expect in this noble endeavor.

Nevertheless, this book launching is not just simply a celebration; it certainly shows visible achievement and success of the University in terms of academic excellence as well as in breeding good roster of authors. Most importantly, this occasion cascades to everyone the educational and evangelical mission of UST in spreading the virtues of faith, hope, truth and wisdom.

"A JOURNEY OF FAITH IN ART"

A half day lecture entitled "A Journey of Faith in Art" was held last July 9, 2007 at the Tan Yan Kee Student Center. The guest speaker was Mr. Joey Velasco, considered to be a talented artist.

Mr. Velasco, who was introduced by Dr. Dante Lerma, was invited to talk about his works, and the values of paintings. He said that “a painting inspires the painter and that it is faith that inspire the artist.”

It was in the year 2005 when he started to paint. Mr. Velasco presented two videos, the ‘Last Supper’ and the ‘Prodigal Son’. He presented his own interpretation through his faith-enriching experiences. His portrait of

Fr. Fernando de los Rios' collection of rare religious and scientific books is just a part of the wonderful haul of treasure one finds at the Heritage Library. Moreover, it is not only the historical work of Copernicus that made UST Heritage library become known but also of the rich collection markedly ecclesiastical, historical crafts of arts and culture, great books on medicine and scientific works such as: Euclid's Elements, Martianus Capella's De Nuptiis Philologiae et Mercurii, Albertus Magnus' De Animalibus, and the commentary by St. Thomas Aquinas on Aristotle's De Caelo. These are just some of the many fascinating and attention-grabbing crafts that the UST Heritage Library has which are found rarely in other libraries in the Philippines.

Truly, there are more to expect in the Heritage Library. It's just that only few students found it appealing and interesting considering the fact that richness and wealth are commonly associated with money or material things. Such notion then, limits its deeper understanding and scope. However, looking beyond the corporeal side is the historical value and wealth of something, which is far more meaningful and profound.

the return of Voldemort. Her methods aren't pretty and the students, led by Harry, rebel against her and against the idiocracy of the Ministry by forming Dumbledore's Army. Made up of a hand-picked group of students, the DA meets in secret to practice defending themselves against an attack by Voldemort's forces. As dreams of Voldemort continue to plague him, Harry realizes that another meeting with the Dark Lord is inevitable. The only real question is whether he'll be ready for the battle.

The movie is a sad but captivating new adventure for the young wizards. The movie is poorly directed. As for my opinion it is overly melodramatic and shallow. There are parts where the characters were overdone. An example of which is Tonks being a kooky, dramatic and cartoon character is unseen in the movie. She just zooms in and out of the scenes. Here, it's poor casting and dull, stiff directing. It's not that Harry is such a stick - it's just that he was instructed to frown and moan and stand with a stiff neck. Poor directing with no respect for the age-level of the audience - from wide eyed action lovers to mature motivation seekers. The sense of continuity in the "WAR," the need for escalation of fear and threat, are mouthed but not lived. The provocations for HP's anger, the zany twin rebellion, the prophecy of Draco's rank as "Deputy" to Umbridge - none would ever have been understandable to someone who has not read the book. Even the music was nondescript. HP 5 movie series is melodramatic and shallow.

'Hapag' or 'Last Supper' is truly a remarkable piece of work. It is 'unique' because of the different portrayals he has done. He managed to capture the innocence, trust, hunger, playfulness, cleverness, hopelessness, loyalty, and weariness in those children. Each one in the portrait has its own meaning; the little child crouching at the bottom left hand corner of the table invokes pity. It does make you think of the unfair plight among children all over the world. The presence of the Jesus-like character in the painting somehow gives a cohesion and a vision of a better tomorrow for the children depicted in the painting. These are pictures of poor children from Metro Manila with Jesus Christ which, for me, is very "touchy." In the Prodigal Son, he painted based on what he experienced. He represents an old man as the prodigal son who left his family several years ago. Joey Velasco made his own version of the story.

Some of his paintings are displayed at the College of Fine Arts & Design (CFAD) building.

Yours truly was indeed very lucky to be part of this revelation .

THE 28th MANILA INTERNATIONAL BOOK FAIR

“Inspire...Aspire...Read” was the theme of this year’s Manila International Book Fair. It was formally opened to the public last August 29, 2007 at the internationally-acclaimed World Trade Center in Pasay City.

The event was organized by Primetrade Asia, Inc. in partnership with some of the well-recognized book industry associations in the country namely: the Asian Catholic Communications, Inc., Book Development Association of the Philippines, Philippine Booksellers Association, Inc., and Publishers Representatives Organization of the Philippines.

Seminars, workshops, symposia, storytelling, book launching and other special activities were held during the Book Fair.

The UST librarians, library coordinators, faculty members, employees and students attended this activity in order to be part of the book selection process for the purpose of updating the library collections. Students visited the fair to take advantage of the wide array of new titles and learn from the various seminars conducted. The books selected by authorized representatives are yet to be delivered to the UST Library by the different book dealers for evaluation and final selection.

Indeed, this is an activity that is very essential to the collection development program of the library which, hopefully, will still improve the service to students and faculty members especially on the aspect of ‘building library collection’.

STORYTELLING ACTIVITY

“Everyone loves stories and everyone is a storyteller, no matter what level or type. People tell stories to classmates, friends and family. Stories teach, inspire, and bring people and communities together.”

With these in mind, the UST Grade School Library and the Library Committee on Extension Services were inspired to conduct a storytelling activity last August 13, 2007. This was held at the UST Grade School Library activity area. The program was in two sessions: 10:00 - 11:00am and 1:30 - 2:30pm, the participants were the members of the “Book Lovers Club” and some UST librarians.

The purpose of the activity is two-fold: (1) to encourage students to read books, especially those that teach life’s lessons, and (2) to explore the craft of storytelling. The Librarians were involved in this activity for them to see, participate and get some pointers on how a storyteller brings the story into life using book-based stories.

The storyteller was Mr. Jose Enrico Miguel B. David, a librarian from UST and a member of the organization called Alitaptap Storyteller Philippines Inc. He has already conducted storytelling sessions in different malls, parks, schools and libraries.

The audience listened attentively and participated well. Mr. David, casted the students and librarians to do some roles from the story and it was a big “hit.” The stories presented have different lessons which motivated the participants to read and to listen to stories.

FORUM ON CREATING WEBLIOGRAPHIES

It was very timely that the University of Santo Tomas Library Science Alumni Association (USTLSAA) organized this forum entitled “Creating Webliographies.” It was held last July 27, 2007 at the Conference Hall of the UST Miguel de Benavides Library. The invited speaker was Ms. Marita Gando Valerio, a ‘Bibliographic Control’ Librarian of De La Salle University and an alumna of UST. She finished her BSE major in Library Science from the College of Education. The forum was attended by faculty members, librarians and Library Science students.

The speaker discussed the several uses and the steps on how to create a webliography, how it should be presented, and the current issues and concerns. She also mentioned some of the criteria used in evaluating websites like authority & reputation, currency and maintenance of the source, accuracy and comprehensiveness, purpose/scope of coverage, and, navigation and design. Other important points in her lecture are the issues on mounting on the web, updating and monitoring of usage. As information specialist, she encouraged librarians to create webliographies which researchers would find useful, relevant and a reliable source of information in the Internet.

Library Profile

D’ [I]KING OF THE LIBRARY

Enrique A. Gestiada, Jr. or Kuya “Iking” as we fondly call him, was born on the 17th of January 1964 under the zodiac sign of Capricorn. This man who hails from Guiuan, Eastern Samar is the 7th child in a brood of eight of Mr. Enrique Gestiada, Sr. and Mrs. Francisca Arceño.

Iking obtained his elementary education in Bonifacio Elementary School and secondary education at the Doña Teodora Alonzo High School. He took up vocational course in printing in 1988 from the University of Santo Tomas. He also took up secretarial and radio mechanics for six months at the Arellano High School in 1982 and 1983, respectively.

He was hired as a regular employee assigned at the UST Library in 1991. Presently, he works at the Technical Section of the Library as a utility clerk.

Iking is a simple person with a smiling face, always ready to run errands for the library staff. He is the favorite singer of everyone in the library and he is best remembered for his own rendition of the song “Wonderful Tonight” by Eric Clapton.

He is married to Ms. Marifez Lahara of Guinadiong, Dumaguete and blessed with one child, Angela Nicole L. Gestiada who is now one year old. To this fellow, I all wish the best for him.

UST FACULTY CONVOCATION

The University has witnessed the Thomasian spirit of friendship and partnership during the Faculty Convocation held last August 7, 2007 at the Medicine Auditorium.

The said occasion was hosted by Fr. Isidro C. Abaño O.P., UST Secretary General. Fr. Juan V. Ponce, O.P., the Vice-Rector, delivered the welcome remarks. Fr. Ernesto M. Arceo, O.P., Rector of the University, took the major role of highlighting the University's significant achievements, plans, and goals in his report for Academic Year 2006-2007.

It was also during that occasion that the University commemorated the Feast of St. Dominic which has doubled the importance of the program making it more essential and spiritual in nature. Significantly, through the inspiration of St. Dominic, it cascaded to everyone the virtues of humility, intelligence, and compassion.

Indeed, the Rector's report carried out the mission of an educator who imparts the message of faith, active hope, and selfless love. These values that were mentioned by Fr. Arceo reinforced the core values of competence, commitment, and compassion being advocated by his esteemed predecessor, Fr. Tamerlane Lana, O.P.

It was evident in the Rector's report the academic progress and achievements of the University starting from the soaring increase enrollment this year despite the sudden decline of the quality of private education in the country. This simply shows visible signs of public trust and confidence in the quality of education offered by the University of Santo Tomas and the competence of academic programs which are closely monitored based from its curricular needs.

In this aspect, Fr. Arceo stressed the firm protection of general formation of individual in the area of Humanities, Social Science, Philosophy, and Theology. On the other hand, though it is overwhelming on the number of enrollees, this does not compromise the quality of education of the University. Rather, considering the fact that the Commission on Higher Education (CHED) has confirmed the university status as the center of excellence and the developing status in all major programs. Highlighted in the report, was the accredited status of the University's academic programs, the increase in the number of faculty members with doctoral and master's degrees, the development of support staff, renovated offices and the continuous improvement of the University's facilities and equipment.

All these and more constituted the Rector's report which were very inspiring. It sends forth the message "Gratitude is the memory of the heart;" that for all the success and achievements one receives in life, these remind of God's unconditional love and unceasing blessings for everyone.
